

Dear Human Resource Manager,

I have 15+ years' experience in eLearning, course development, and instructional design. My educational accomplishments include a BFA in Photo/Film/Electronic Media from the University of Illinois at Chicago, and an MFA in Computer Animation from the International Fine Arts College (now MIUAD) in Miami, Florida.

I have designed learning modules for Cisco System's Cisco ONE software, the Massachusetts Dept. of Education and the Chicago Public School system. Examples of my work can be seen on my personal website, the link is below. These were created with Adobe After Effects, Adobe Captivate and Articulate Storyline.

I specialize in creating learning modules, especially from old data or previous training. I really enjoy the challenge, and I think it's very satisfying to revamp and modernize content. This is what I did at NorthStar Medical Radioisotopes, LLC.

The University of Miami needed an online Master's degree program, so we built it, all of it, with about 10 people. Laureate Education was using a paper-based course development system, and we turned that on its head by implementing HTML-based templates to cut development time from 9 months to 3-4 per course, saving us headaches, and them money.

I taught animation and graphic design online from 2003-2010. I have worked for five different universities. This included course development, design, and project management.

If I can be a bit bold, let's discuss how I can help improve your organization.

Best regards,

Dan Swanson
